String Trimmer Applications

- Trimming: cutting down tall grass, weeds and brush around curbs, fencing, hardscapes, sidewalks, drives, etc.
- Floating: using the trimmer to cut a large patch of grass to match the length of the mower height
- Edging: using the trimmer to create a clean line of separation between vegetation and a hard surface

Pole Saw Applications

- Tree Trimming: cutting tree limbs for tree maintenance or removal
- Tree Shaping: maintenance for aesthetic appeal
- Hazard Branch Removal: cutting tree limbs that overhang buildings, streets, etc.
- Canopy Thinning: trimming limbs to allow more sunlight through trees

Hedge Trimmer Applications

- Trimming/Shaping: cutting shrub overgrowth to create an even, clean look
- Clearing perennials: cut to the ground during fall clean up in preparation for the winter
- Rejuvenation: clearing a shrub down to the ground to restore life. This is performed when shrub grows out of proportion
- Shrub Down: to remove a shrub it will be cut at roots then dug out of ground

Edger Applications

- Edging: cutting a clean line of separation between vegetation and a hard surface
- Bed Creation/Maintenance: creating an edge for a flower or mulch bed
- Sod: cutting sod down to size during install or cutting sod into sections for removal

Is the M18 FUEL™ Power Head compatible with other brands attachments?

- No, the M18 FUEL™ Power Head is only compatible with Milwaukee® QUIK-LOK™ Attachments.

Can the M18 FUEL™ String Trimmer (2725-20) be modified to be attachment capable?

- No, the 2725-20 is a dedicated String Trimmer.

Why does the M18 FUEL™ Power Head have a lock off mechanism built into the trigger assembly?

- The lock off mechanism is for safety purposes to prevent inadvertent actuation of the trigger with Pole Saw or Hedge Trimmer Attachments.

What speed should attachments be run in?

- The String Trimmer Attachment can be run in high or low speed. Low for maximizing run-time and high for maximizing clearing power.
- All other attachments should be run in high speed at all times.

When using the Pole Saw or Hedge Trimmer, how many 3' Attachment Extensions can be used?

- Only (1) 3' Attachment Extension should be used.

What bar and chain oil should be used with the Pole Saw Attachment?

- Any bar and chain oil can be used with the Pole Saw Attachment.

Where can a user get a replacement blade for the Edger Attachment?

- Edger blades are universal and the Edger Attachment can be used with any rectangular 8" 2.5mm edger blade.
